

IParl Research Colloquium 2023

Forum for the exchange of ideas and the discussion of ongoing and completed research projects in the field of parliamentarism research.

19 January 2023, 10 am – 12 pm

Candidacies in the Multi-Level System. CandiData - Idea, Status quo and next steps

Daniel Hellmann / Dr Danny Schindler (IParl)

23 February 2023, 10 am – 12 pm

The changing functions of Parliamentary Committees: locating and evaluating 'evidence' by select committees in the UK House of Commons

Dr Marc Geddes (University of Edinburgh)

6 April 2023, 10 am – 12 pm

So close but still too far away from Power? A Longitudinal Analysis of Women in Top Positions in the European Parliament (1994-2019)

Sophie Kopsch (Université de Namur)

4 May 2023, 10 am – 12 pm

Hostile or Consensual? A Comparative Study of Personal Attacks and Positive Self-Reference in Exchanges between the Conservatives and the SNP in the Prime Minister's Questions and First Minister's Questions

Sebastian Ludwicki-Ziegler (University of Stirling)

8 June 2023, 10 am – 12 pm

How many Parliamentary Roles and Who gets to play what? A latent class Analysis of Backbench Activity and Fictious Prediction of Role Incumbency in the UK House of Commons, 2001-2019

Dr Stephen Holden Bates (University of Birmingham)

People with an interest in parliamentarism are cordially invited to present their research projects or results, scientific qualification theses or project ideas with practical relevance and to discuss them with us. The colloquium takes place on Thursdays from 10 am to 12 pm in the IParl and hybrid on request. If you are interested, please write an email with a few words about your topic to pyschny@iparl.de.